Acquiring the Shape of the Course

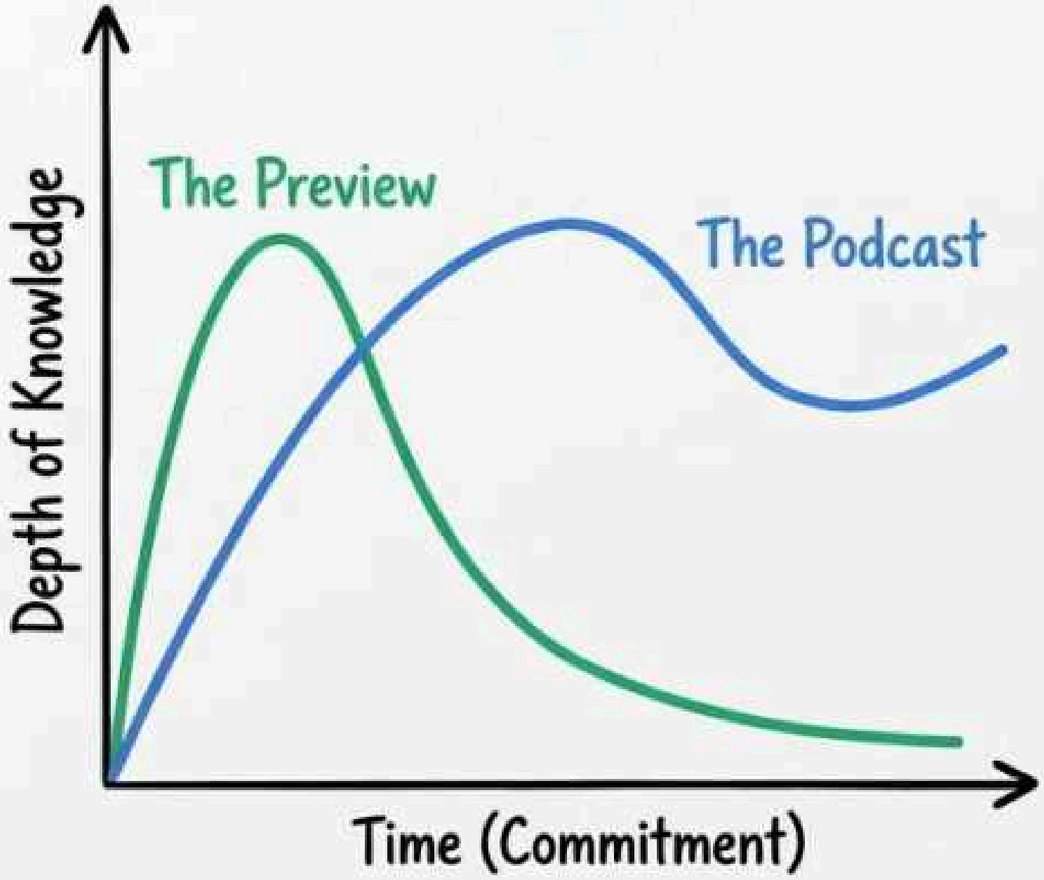

- Powered by Google's NotebookLM
- Generates a short, cinematic video overview
- Sourced directly from the course's own transcripts
- Style: Lighter and quicker

Gemini Notebook

Fixing Memory Through Auditory Repetition

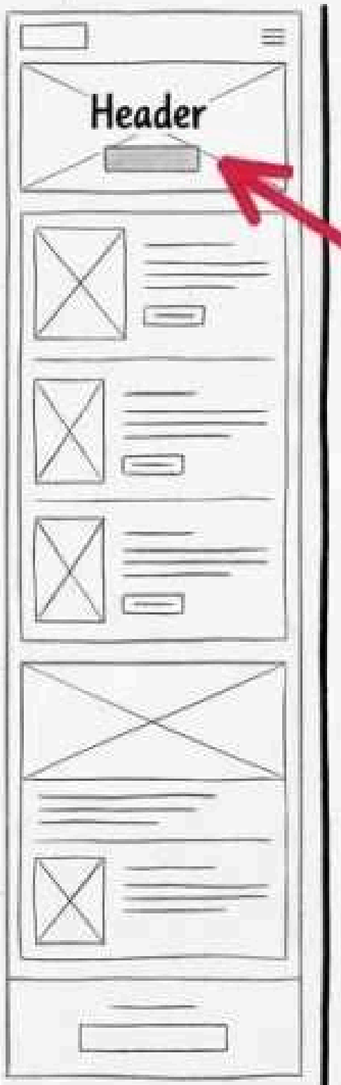

[¶ 5.4]

- Format: A NotebookLM "Deep Dive" audio overview
- Dynamic: Two voices in relaxed conversation
- Use Case: Passive listening while walking, driving, or doing chores
- Mechanism: Hearing ideas in a different voice and order fixes them in memory

Transforming Raw Material into Custom Study Aids

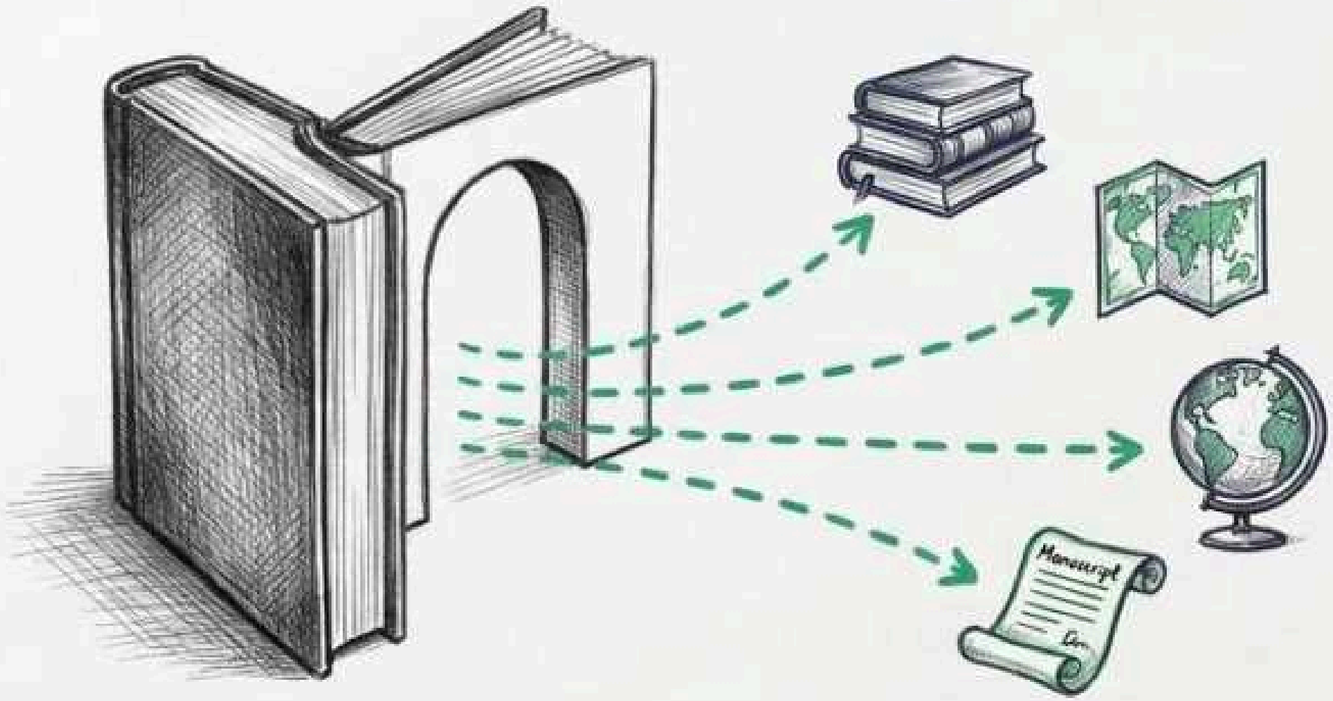

$$f(\text{Clean, Numbered Course Book}) \xrightarrow{\text{NotebookLM / AI}} \{\text{Practice Quizzes}, \text{Outlines}, \text{Slide Decks}, \text{Flashcards}, \text{Timelines}, \text{Mind Maps}\}$$

Theorem: The Academy provides the raw material; you shape it to fit how you learn.

The Formula for Completion vs. The Orbit of Utility

[¶ 5.12]

Hand drawn course webpage

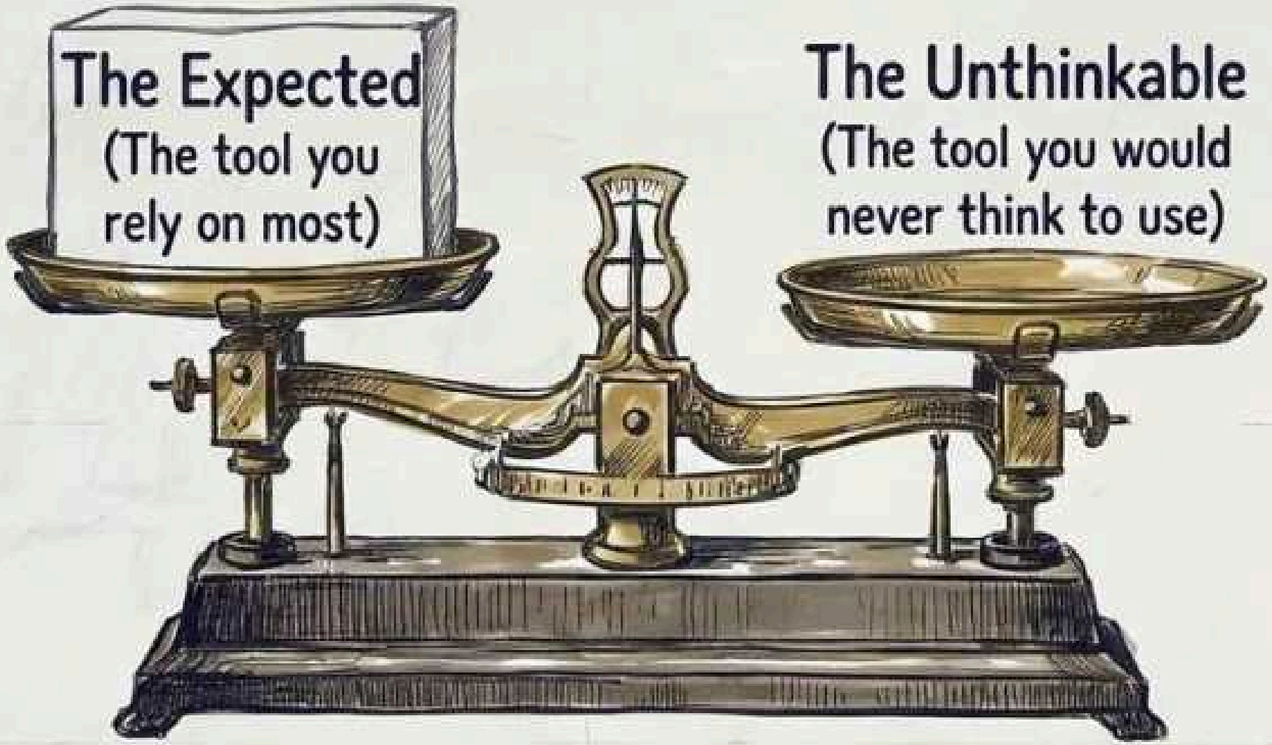

A course page offers many ways in, but none of the outer tools are compulsory. A learner who executes the core equation has done the course. The rest exists only for whoever finds it useful.

An Experiment for Your Next Course

[¶ 5.13]

The Lecture 5 Question: Identify both tools.
Test the unexpected tool at least once in your next course to see if it surprises you.
